DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. The amendment filed on June 18, 2007, cancelled no claims. No claims were added and claims 1, 14, and 20 were amended. Thus the currently pending claims remain Claims 1-21.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 3-6; and 17-19 objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form.

Claim 3 depends from independent claim 1. Claim 1 indicates the execution of one trigger rule is adequate for the operation of the invention. However, Claim 3, states that two rules must be executed, thus broadening the scope of the claim. Claims 4-6 suffer the same deficiency as claim 3 based upon the dependency chain.

Claims 17 and 18 depends from claim 16 which recites the receiving a of trigger rule from either a location handler or a signal handler. Claims 17 is directed towards a trigger rule from a location handler only, and thus does not further limit the claim when the trigger rule is received from a signal handler. Claim 18 is directed towards a trigger rule from a signal handler only, and thus does not further limit the claim when the trigger rule is from a location handler. Claim 19 inherits the same deficiency as claim 18 based on dependency.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The amendment filed on June 18, 2007 has overcome the rejection of Claims 1 – 21 under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph. Thus, the rejection is withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 10 – 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Boyd (U.S. Patent Number: 6,484,148).

Claims 10 and 11: Boyd discloses the method of claim 8, further comprising the step of apportioning fees (Col 8, lines 23-65). However, Boyd is silent with regard to various permutations in which fee apportionment might entail. The teachings of Boyd describe the display system itself and not who owns and operates the display system. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention that the service provider (entity that runs, operates and/or owns the display device) would need to reimburse the third party carrier (i.e. taxi company, billboard owners, etc) for allowing them to put the display on the carrier's physical property (i.e. taxi cabs, etc.). One would have been motivated to institute such a reimbursement in order to provide the third party carrier with an incentive to install the display to help in the defrayment of operating costs.

Claim 12: Boyd discloses the method of claim 8, further comprising the step of apportioning the fees (Col 8, lines 23-65). However, Boyd is silent with regard to various permutations in which fee apportionment might entail. The teachings of Boyd describe the display system itself and not who owns and operates the display system. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made that when the device is sold as a stand alone device, in which various third party carriers (i.e. taxi companies, billboard owners, etc.) can purchase and install, a fee would need to be paid to the plurality of owners, by the service provider (entity that operates the advertisement distribution hardware), in order to be provided the opportunity to display advertisements on their mobile display unit. One would have been motivated to provide such a reimbursement in order to maximize the number of display units on which it can provide advertisements, and as a result maximize the fees it charges to entities wishing to advertise on the service.
